An underwater photograph of a shipwreck. The scene is dominated by a large, rusted metal structure, likely a ship's hull or a large pipe, which is heavily encrusted with marine life. The structure is angled diagonally across the frame. In the background, the skeletal remains of a ship's superstructure are visible against a deep blue background. A school of small, silvery fish swims in the mid-ground to the left. The overall atmosphere is one of a well-preserved but weathered underwater site.

A man and a woman are sitting on the deck of a white sailboat. The man is in the foreground, wearing a white long-sleeved shirt and dark shorts, looking out at the ocean. The woman is behind him, wearing a white halter top and a blue and white striped sarong, looking back at him. The background shows a vast blue ocean under a clear sky.

THANK YOU!
